

Mark Apfelbacher

CD3 Systems

Mark@CD3station.com

Mr. Mark Apfelbacher is a product developer, environmental scientist and professionally trained landscape architect. Mark has worked for 15 years at the intersection of business innovation and environmental initiatives. He has created products, companies, and programs that increase effectiveness, enhance brands, and improve the quality of lives. He leverages this knowledge to develop responsible products, program marketing strategies and execution of environmental conservation programs.

