

Penny and Larry Carter have had major impacts on the United States Army Corps of Engineers, at Stanislaus River Parks during their eight years of volunteering. Accumulatively, Penny and Larry volunteered 8,376 hours of their time. Penny and Larry's participation in managing the Knights Ferry Information Center during the winter and spring seasons has created a lasting positive effect on the hundreds of thousands of visitors they have contacted. Notably, their involvement in water safety education and interpretation has had an immeasurable impact on the safety of visitors. They have also supported the natural resource program by planting and maintaining trees in the recreation areas. Additionally, they are frequently called upon to paint and maintain bbq pits, lending to the overall experience for visitors at Stanislaus River Parks. Their continued dedication to the US Army Corps of Engineers and our public lands has aided in increasing the publics knowledge and appreciation for our natural resources. The team at Stanislaus River Parks truly values and appreciates the tireless support Penny and Larry Carter have provided.
